Speech of the Governor Elect at Harrisburg.

Forney's Press publishes a speech made by Gen Geary at Harrisburg to the "Boys in Blue" in honor of the Union victory in the State, in which he says

"It permanently established these facts—that the government of the United States is vested in the American people and in their representation in Congress assembled and not in a corrupt Executive that cruel and revengeful traitors defeated in battle shall not be restored to citizenship to rule the country they attempted to destroy that when in battle freedom and equal political rights to all their successors that hereafter the citizen represented in the State and National Legislature must be clothed with the rights of citizenship that all the agents of the Government civil and military must be persuasively and sternly exercised to protect to maintain and defend the rights of our oppressed brothers in the South against the savage persecutions of rebels who are still in impenitent and defiant attitude even Andrew Johnson dares to put down the rebellion

Having fortified these great truths against all future dangers it remains for Pennsylvania to maintain the forward position we have so proudly and gloriously won The attempt to restore the traitors of the South and revive the Copperheads of the North have proved to be a Pandemonium so full of that the failure has consigned both to deeper depth and darker than they occupied before

Jefferson Davis—Rose-Colored View of the Traitor.

The Hon G M Hillyer editor of the Natchez Courier, visited Jefferson Davis on September 7 and has published an account of the interview—We quote what he says of the prisoner's physical condition which shows that remorse for his great crime is doing its work

"It would be difficult for an old friend of Mr Davis to recognize him were he not presented to him as the great State Prisoner! Emaciated to the extreme, almost a walking skeleton, little left but a great and stately form a grey beard covering, sharp characteristic features and mouth, which in other days has given life and thought to a nation in command and full of fire of intellect he yet might pass upon our streets unknown to former friends His physical condition is such that he will long be obliged to use a cane and the aid of a friend or attendant The writer does not know how much the scale weighs Add ten pounds to any medical man's report on the subject and Mr Davis weight can be ascertained His lower limbs are as emaciated as the prisoner's steps totter as he walks but yet he is reliant on his own integrity and on the God whose favor and mercy with beautiful simplicity he asks at more hours than the imprisoned Daniel did

"Mr Davis confides he is will not live long Emaciated to the extreme without appetite and without hope, he is gradually going down to the long home where a million of manly and womanly tears will follow him The first chill, the first attack of any sharp disease will carry him away to the great Judge who judgeth overall—Tempered may be the wind that blows over Fortress Monroe! May her breathings be sweet and her winds soft!

As they were at Andersonville!

Mr Davis is yet denied the use of pen ink or paper He violates the parole that allows him to walk inside the fortress if he receives his autograph During the day he lies little, except is prisoner to complain of During the night he hits grated doors and an officer to which every time he turns over in bed, or changes the position of his pillow!

"In conversation, Mr Davis' great intellect is as brilliant as ever Unable to write, and unwilling to talk to others, it seems that the rich stores of his gifted mind are only now allowed full expression He is hopeless for himself He sees not nor can any friend see for him, why he is kept in the moribund condition of a State prisoner He is the first—and for God's sake may he be the last—the country ever knew! Army headquarters know him not, he cannot be reached by any order Gen Grant can give The civil tribunals know him not, he can not be reached by any process of habeas corpus! And yet law and civil authorities are said to preside the land! What a mockery!

Who deliberately starved thousands of Union soldiers to death at Andersonville? What imprisonment can atone for that?

"In all probability Mr Davis will never see our people again He is an individual victim whose life by confinement will be sacrificed to solve a great political embarrassment Like the man who drew the elephant in a lottery, the Government knows not what to do with him—should not death less remorseless than a power, consign him to a tomb which will be hallowed for ages as that of a martyr sacrificed for a people!"

Benedict Arnold, Aaron Burr, Jefferson Davis

A Dancing Master Runs Away with an Heiress.

From the Louisville Kentuckian Oct 4

The quiet of Gentry the romantic little City of the Maidens was startled a few days since by an unexpected elopement in fashionable circles—the parties being a brilliant heiress just budding into womanhood and an accomplished professor of calisthenics formerly a gallant soldier in the Confederate army The history of their love and courtship is the same old story—"the course of true love never did run smooth"—a stern guardian, the confidant of the fair one's wealth interposed, and frown the match, but all in vain the young affections of the lovers had become too deeply chisled and they had already become

Two souls with but a single thought
Two hearts that beat as one and had fully realized that "in life there's nothing half so sweet as love's young dream"

How the gallant professor wooed and won her—whether is the dusky Moor wooed Desdemona and she loved him for the dangers he had passed, or whether he wooed her amid the brilliant circles of the dance, or by what sorcery he won her—we know not but so it was they met and loved and, despite the remonstrances and opposition of parent and guardian, determined to link their destiny in the silken chains of wedlock

A favorable opportunity presented itself last week to carry through successfully their long contemplated elopement It is an old and true saying, "Love laughs at locksmiths," and so it was in this instance Notwithstanding the strictest surveillance the golden moment at last arrived By one of love's stratagems, to allay suspicion, the parties did not avail themselves of the most direct route or the ordinary mode of conveyance, but first came to this city Relays of horses had already been placed at convenient distances along the route to the Ohio, and by rapid driving the happy couple reached a point opposite Aberdeen beyond the hour of midnight Here an unexpected difficulty arose, the waters of the usually placid Ohio were angry and swollen the night was pitch dark, a dense fog having settled ghostly over the river the star of love itself seemed obscured the skiffman remonstrated against the dangerous attempt to effect the passage at that hour of the night, but his protest was in vain, the lovers were willing to face the raging of the flood, but not an angry father!" but "faint heart never won fair lady" The perilous journey was at last safely made, the venerable Esquire Shelton, now in the ninety second year of his age (who has been a magistrate more than half a century, and during that time has united about fifty couples per year), was at once awakened, and, readily getting up, amid the congratulations of their friends who accompanied them, united the now happy lovers in holy bonds of matrimony for the present this closes the scene, when the curtain next rises, we earnestly trust the tableaux may present the bride and bridegroom receiving the congratulations of friends and the forgiveness and benediction of relatives

THE LOSS OF THE EVENING STAR.

Further Particulars of the Terrible Disaster—Only Sixteen Lives Known to be Saved.

The news of the sinking of the Evening Star, off the Southern coast, with a large number of lives on board, awakened an intense interest, and absorbed all other topics Since then, additional particulars have been received in this city They furnish very meagre details of the disaster, but prove it to be the most appalling that has occurred to an American vessel since the lamented American calamity Only 16 out of nearly 500 persons on board are known to have reached land in safety Others may, and will probably, be heard from among the number saved, but the inference so far, is that the larger portion of the passengers and crew have perished The steamer went down on the night of the 31st, it is supposed suddenly, in the midst of a hurricane gale, which gave no warning of its misery of leaving men women and children struggling in the waves As the women and children were more numerous than the males their chances of safety were slender, their sex and helplessness being forgotten in the dreadful crisis, and their terrors making them easily succumb to the waters element Of their large number not one has yet appeared among those saved Captain Knapp who commanded the Evening Star, is with the missing and drowned

BEST WRITTEN FROM PURSER ATTEN

The purser of the ill fated vessel announced his safety, with that of his companions to its owners in the following despatch

B J Hubbard Treasurer New York Mail Steamship Company 5 Bowling Green

The Evening Star went down on the morning of the 31st in a hurricane Sixteen only are known to be saved None of these are women Ten of our party arrived in a schooner yesterday, viz Robert Finger, W H Harris, Edward Lusner, John Long, Fredrick Shaffer George Smith, John Powers, Dennis Cameron, Howard Stephens All are authering, but their wants are being relieved We expect to leave for New York to morrow I have telegraphed to New Orleans
E S ATTEN, Purser Evening Star

Most of those named in this dispatch were connected and employed on the vessel Those of the saved whose names are not mentioned are five of the crew and Frank Gerrard, a passenger

THE LOST

Those who embarked on the voyage of the Evening Star, and have not yet been heard from, as previously stated, were mostly females—Among their number were a French opera troupe, in charge of Mr Paul Alhaiza, who numbered sixty singers and ballet dancers They arrived in this city from Europe by the steamer Ville de Paris two days before starting on their second unfortunate sea journey, en route to New Orleans, where they were to appear at the Academy of Music there during the fall and winter season They being strangers coming here for the amusement of our people with the anticipations of a warm welcome from the Crescent City, the "so they have so unexpectedly met with must be sadly regretted in the United States, and to their friends and relatives abroad it will be mournful intelligence Besides this troupe there were thirty male and female circus performers, belonging to the company of Spaulding & Bidwell, who were also going to New Orleans with bright prospects They had it is said, all the paraphernalia and stage appurtenances with them, but were without horses It is authentically understood that another feminine coterie, distinct from the opera and circus troupes went on the trip of the Evening Star This third company was composed of young beauties whom mistresses in New Orleans had engaged to enter their fashionable and fast houses

CAUSE OF THE DISASTER

More than an assumed reason for the wrecking of the Evening Star cannot be deduced in the want of facts Several theories have been brought up of which the most reasonable is that she encountered a wind storm in the Gulf Stream when between Hatteras and Charleston, which centered on her in terrific force from all points of the compass, and engulphed her in the waves It is claimed that the vessel was too staunch to be overpowered by an ordinary tempest and her engines and machinery unable to give any serious trouble

HER CONSTRUCTION

The Evening Star was built as the sister ship of the Morning Star by Roosevelt, Joyce & Co, for the New York Mail steamship Company Her first voyage to New Orleans was run by Captain W R Hall in July, 1863, and since then she has been thoroughly seaworthy Her dimensions were length at light load line 266 feet length on deck, 273 feet, over all, 285 feet breadth of beam, 39 feet, 4 inches, depth of hold 24 feet, tonnage, Custom House measurement 2,022 65 95 tons, carpenters' measurement, 2,117 The hull is made of white oak, and her frames of live oak and willow locust The engines were constructed by the Morgan Iron Works, and the boilers at the Allaire foundry All her accommodations were first class, and the fittings and decoration of the best workmanship She has been at different times under the command of three excellent seamen—Captains Hall, Winpenny and Knapp

THE LOSSES

The value of the Evening Star was $500 000, and she was not insured Her cargo, which was full, is estimated to have been worth half a million dollars or more, that was insured The principal shippers generally, by this line are the firms of Stewart and Claflin, and they probably have an interest in the cargo If the vessel becomes a total wreck the amount involved will be at least a million dollars

ANXIOUS INQUIRERS

All the morning yesterday the office of the steamship company in Bowling Green was visited by ladies and gentlemen after information of the Evening Star passengers They were told to have cheerful hopes by the officers, to patiently wait for more definite and, may be, more favorable particulars But they showed great anxiety despite this comforting sympathy Many of the inquirers were friends and acquaintances of gentlemen from New Orleans, who had been spending the summer months at the North

CAPTAIN KNAPP

This officer left his vessel on her foundering and entered a metallic life boat, in which he took a number of women and children There were six of these life boats on board and it is presumed that they may have all been put in use by the passengers Eighteen men were in the boat with Captain Knapp It capsized nine times and at the sixth time he was lost. His brother lost his life in a similar way some years ago, while he was making a voyage across the ocean on the steamer Leviathan Captain Knapp was an excellent seaman and was held in high esteem by the owners of the Evening Star and the Board of Underwriters, of which body he was a member He leaves a wife and children at Stamford, Connecticut

A second boat took sixteen persons from the steamer, among whom were the Captain and third mate This boat was capsized twelve or fifteen times The Captain was lost on the fourth time This boat arrived at Fernandina Tuesday morning with six persons and two dead bodies on board

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.

The steamer Helvetia arrived at the lower Quarantine yesterday from Liverpool and Queenstown, with twenty cases of cholera on board, fourteen deaths having occurred on the voyage, four of which were produced by cholera

In the city there was not a single case reported and only one burial permit for cholera was issued.

Bruno Effuy, a notorious burglar and river thief, was shot last evening while stealing cotton at Pier 13 North River, by William A. Potter, the clerk of the pier.

The Herald's Mexican correspondence has the following: General Mejia, the Imperial commander, has moved on Monterey, and a battle between his forces and those of Escobedo has probably taken place.

The report has reached Matamoras that Escobedo, who had the principal organized force of the Liberals, had been defeated at Monterey.

It was stated that Maximilian had gone over to the church party as a dernier resort. To satisfy the clergy he had to restore all the church property, amend some of the offensive laws previously passed, and dismiss two of his ablest Ministers.

The embarkation of the 81st regiment of French infantry had been stopped to await information from France, expected by General Castelnau, Napoleon's special envoy, who was en route to Mexico.

A European banker had promised to loan Maximilian $17,000,000.

The proclamation of President Johnson relative to the blockade was looked upon as an electioneering dodge.

An American protectorate is still talked of and desired.

The Herald's Washington special has the following: Mr. Lowenthal reported himself yesterday morning to the different departments, soliciting arrest. The Paymaster General and other accounting officers informed him that they knew of nothing warranting his arrest. Lowenthal then proceeded to the Criminal Court room, but neither Marshal nor the District Attorney were willing to arrest him. He afterwards appeared to the Chief of Police, but he also declined to act and only upon the earnest solicitations of Lowenthal admitted him to bail on his own recognizance to answer any and every charge which may be brought against him.

The following opinion has been given by the Attorney General and forwarded to the Secretary of War:

I am of the opinion that you have no legal authority to exclude authorized attorneys and agents from collecting bounties, and that in the representation and payment of claims, the claimant may act by attorney."

A sensation has been produced by the rumor that a defalcation has occurred in the Navy Yard Paymaster Department. The report is that Mr. Thompson, clerk in the Clothing Inspector's Bureau, has been making improper use of his position. Paymaster Fulton of the Yard has been detached and Paymaster Boggs appointed. No dereliction is attributed to Paymaster Fulton.

A dispatch dated Berlin, September 26th, says: The Eastern question is attracting as much attention here as in other parts of Europe. The official North German Gazette declares that the European Powers are nominally bound to interfere.

The cold weather of the last few days has had the effect of increasing the number of cholera cases on Governor's Island. Five men of the garrison were attacked by the disease yesterday. Undoubtedly the overcrowded condition of the depot, limited accommodations for the men and the inclemency of the weather invite the disease. Orders of a sanitary and precautionary nature have been issued and the island will be considered in quarantine while the cholera lasts

The Tribune's Washington special says: Rumors of Cabinet changes are again rife. Seward and Stanton are said to be on the point of retiring, the former to his home in Auburn and the latter to Spain in place of Hale. It is too soon, however, for anything startling to occur.

The Tribune's Leavenworth special gives the following extract from the Helena (Montana) Republican:

General Sherman's dispatch from Fort Laramie to General Grant was false, and he was criminally negligent of duty in sending it. The Powder River road to Montana is infested by Indians, who are daily committing the most fearful depredations. For a distance of seventy miles between Powder River and Fort Laramie, there is hardly a mile that has not its newly-made grave to tell of a recent murder. Fifty men were killed in six days. Parties are compelled to fight against tenfold their number of savages, and no one is safe unless travelling in a train of one hundred or more. The Indians are upon the war-path in good earnest, and with their sabres, revolvers and rifles just obtained from the treaty commissioners at Fort Laramie. There are only 250 mounted men at Fort Reno. The Indians know this and are with boldness stealing stock by wholesale, burning trains and murdering emigrants. One man pierced with thirty-seven arrows, had his hands and feet cut off and body terribly mangled. Three men descending the Missouri river were captured, killed and scalped by the Indians. Their names were Robbins of Maine, Wooden of Minnesota and P. W. Grecko, unknown.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.

Within the past three days the cholera in this city has been on the increase. In twenty-four hours up to midnight last night sixty-six cases were reported, of which seventeen were fatal.

Dr. Brainard, the founder of Rush Medical College in this city, died of the disease last night.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 11.

The Sixth Congressional District Republican Convention was held here to-day, and B. F. Butler nominated for Congress. He received 166 out of 336 votes cast on the first ballot.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.

Captain Barlow, of General Sherman's staff, arrived yesterday from Fort Dodge, where he met two white girls, named Daye, one seventeen and the other thirteen years old, who had been captured from the Kiowa Indians. The girls say that on the 17th of August the Kiowas attacked white houses in Northwestern Texas and killed, scalped and burned their father. Themselves, mother and sister, eight years old were carried into captivity and treated cruelly, being [illegible] with clubs, &c. On [illegible] commanding officer [illegible] sufficient force to rescue them [illegible] will send [illegible] Whites in the Indian camp the officer sent to arrange their ransom saw captives knocked down three times and violated.

General Sherman arrives home the 16th.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.

The Paris Kentuckian states that the Kentucky State fair held during the past week was pecuniarily and otherwise a complete success. The show of Durham cattle was pronounced the finest ever seen in America, while many of the rings of horses could not have been excelled.—The ten aged jacks were valued at $20,000.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 11.

The Vermont Legislature assembled in this place to-day. The Senate organized by electing Henry Clark, of Poultney, Secretary, and Rev. Mr. White, of Coventry, Chaplain.

In the House of Assembly, Hon. John Stewart was re-elected Speaker, J. S. Flagg, of Bennington, Clerk, and Rev. P. Foster, of Burlington, Chaplain.

Governor Dillingham's message will be delivered to-morrow.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 11.

A heavy rain storm set in yesterday afternoon and increased during the night. A great amount of water fell and the streets were flooded In some of the lower portions of the city the water is several feet deep, filling the cellars, and streams are very high. Several railroad bridges near the city have been washed away. The rain at two in the afternoon still continues.

TORONTO, C. W., Oct. 11.

A despatch from Ottawa to the Leader of this city says: Military men say the object of the British Government in sending additional troops to this country is not so much to guard against Fenian attacks as to be prepared for more serious consequences.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.

The Commercial says: The Philadelphia Ledger's hoax concerning the President and Congress was sent to the Ledger from this city for stock-jobbing purposes

A special to the Post says: One of the most terrific storms ever known in Washington has raged there for twelve hours. Parts of the city are overflowed and no railroad trains have arrived or left the city to-day.

WORCESTER, Mass, Oct. 11.

Hon. Jno. D. Baldwin was unanimously nominated for re-election to Congress to day by the Republicans of the 8th District.

WAREHAM, Mass, Oct. 11.

Hon. Thos. D. Elliott was nominated to-day for re-election to Congress by the Republican convention in 1st District.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11

At the Patterson races on the last day of the fair, in the hurdle race of two miles, eight heats, "Lizzie" beat "General Williams" half a length, "Nannie Cruddock" and "Citadel" now here. Time, 3.59½.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.

The Athletics commenced a game of base ball with the Eurekas of New York this afternoon, but owing to various delays only four innings were played, the Eurekas scoring fifteen and the Athletics five. The game was then called on account of the darkness.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.

A fire this morning destroyed J. H. Lulin's box factory, 672 West Sixth street. Loss $20,000—insured $4,000.

FOR SALE—A part or the whole of the OIL EXCHANGE HOTEL, BOYD FARM, PENN. This is one of the most desirable pieces of property that can be put in market. It has a large and increasing patronage, and since the extension of the Oil Creek Rail Road, whose Southern terminus is only a few rods from the Hotel, its business has trebled. Boyd Farm is growing with great rapidity, and is the largest shipping point for Petroleum on Oil Creek There are no other hotels on the Farm. The house is well and completely furnished, and the property is offered for sale as some of the firm are about to engage in other business. For further particulars call on or apply to LEWIS, GREEN & CO., Boyd Farm, Pa. Postoffice address, Petroleum Centre, Pa.

Finney's Majority for Congress over 2,000.

We telegraphed to Meadville yesterday to ascertain definitely the results of the election in this county and district. The following is the response:

MEADVILLE, Oct. 11.

This county gives Geary about eighteen hundred majority, Finney over sixteen hundred, and County ticket same as Governor. Finney's majority in the District is over two thousand.

Is that satisfactory, old fellow?

R. LYLE WHITE.

Well, we reckon it is, fellows.

Death of Commodore Stockton.

A dispatch on Monday announced the death of Commodore Robert F. Stockton at Princeton, N. J. Deceased entered the Navy of the United States early in life, and took part in several of the principal engagements during the war of 1812. He was afterward commander of the American squadron off the coast of Africa. He took great interest in the employment of steam in the navy, and the famous sloop-of-war Princeton was built under his direction. It was on the occasion of displaying her that the party was given by him on the 29th of February, 1844, at which President Tyler, the Cabinet and many members of Congress were present, and which was destined to become so memorable. Several of the company went on deck to witness the firing of the new guns which had been cast expressly for the Princeton, when one of them, the "Peacemaker," exploding, killed Mr. Upshur, the Secretary of State, Mr. Gilmer, the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Gardiner, whose daughter the President afterwards married, and several others. During the war with Mexico Commodore Stockton was placed in command of the fleet in the Pacific Ocean, and command, civil and military, in California. His controversy with John C. Fremont, in the celebrated conflict of jurisdiction, with General Kearney, is familiar to every one. Colonel Fremont was sent home under arrest, and the action of the Commodore approved by the court martial at Washington.

The Commodore soon afterwards resigned his position and retired to private life. In 1850 he was elected to the Senate of the United States, and distinguished himself by introducing the measure to abolish flogging in the navy. He acted with the Democratic party. In 1861 he was chosen a member of the Peace Congress, and supported the conciliatory policy. He has not since taken part in public matters.

PERSONAL.—Major E. W. Mathews, for nearly two years past a resident of this city, has removed to Erie, to accept (as we understand,) an editorial position on the Dispatch. While sincerely regretting the loss of so worthy and estimable a citizen to our own community, we heartily congratulate the Dispatch upon so valuable an accession to its editorial corps. Major M. possesses the best scholarly attainments, and his contributions to the press are invariably marked by candor, originality, and force. We have been glad to avail ourselves of his services at intervals during the last year, and nearly all the geological articles contributed to THE HERALD during that period have been from his pen. A brave soldier, a high-toned gentleman, a faithful and generous friend, an exemplary citizen, Major Mathews carries with him the respect, the confidence, and the attachment of all who have enjoyed his acquaintance in Titusville. We hope he may one day return to "go no more out forever."

C. Edwin Hurd, Esq., of the Dispatch, returns to his post after several weeks' vacation. He is a witty and genial newspaper writer and has made his "department" of the Dispatch as attractive as could be desired.

AMONG the passengers on the upward bound train yesterday p. m., were Mr. H. E. Blackmon and bride, Miss Mary E. Hart, of Petroleum Centre. This is a noteworthy accession to the firm of Blackmon & Nicholson, and the senior partner is especially entitled to congratulations. It seems to us that Mr. Nicholson can best preserve the equilibrium of copartnership by imitating the senior's example.

A CLYMER procession at Pittsburgh, the day before the election, threw stones into the windows of the Gazette office. A "Clymer" man at work on the paper was hit by one of the missiles and so seriously injured that he was unable to go to the polls and vote on Tuesday! That was a bad investment of "rocks" for the Clymerites.

THE DISTRICT.—The latest returns at Meadville indicate a majority of 1,800 for Geary in Crawford, 350 in Venango, and 1, 200 in Mercer—a total of 3,450 against less than 1,200 for Clymer in Clarion. Probable majority for Geary in the District 2,350. Mr. Finney will fall scarcely 250 below this.

FRAUDULENT VOTES.—Wm. McArthur, judge of election for Mead Township, was arrested and brought before Squire Lewis on Wednesday, on charge of permitting a deserter to vote. He was held to bail in the sum of $400 to appear at the November term of court.

HON. M. C. KERR, re-elected to Congress from the 2d (New Albany) district of Indiana, is a native of Titusville, being a son of the late Samuel Kerr. Mr. Kerr has resided in Indiana for nearly twenty years past, and is now elected to Congress for the second term.

LAST Tuesday the body of a man was found in an advanced state of decomposition, in the woods near Plumer. It is very evident that he was the victim of foul play.

REV. T. K. BEECHER, of Elmira, delivered a lecture in Corry last evening. Horace Greeley spoke at Jamestown last evening.

THE STORY ALL TOLD!

We Never Crow till we are out of the Woods!

EHU-EHU-YEW! EHU-EHU-YEW! KOOKEY-KU-TAU-AU-AUGH!

ALL HAIL PENNSYLVANIA!

AN AVALANCHE OF THE "BOYS IN BLUE!"

Clymer Hopelessly Buried!

GEARY'S MAJORITY OVER EIGHTEEN THOUSAND.

OHIO, INDIANA AND IOWA IN THE TRIUMPHAL ARCH!

The President Contemptuously Rebuked.

CONGRESS GLORIOUSLY SUSTAINED.

THE SUBLIMITY OF THE "GROUND SWELL."

A LOFTY REPUBLICAN PYRAMID!

MAINE, CONNECTICUT, VERMONT, OHIO, IOWA, INDIANA, PENNSYLVANIA.

NEARLY 200,000 REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN SEVEN NORTHERN STATES.

THE UNION, THE CONSTITUTION AND THE FLAG ALL IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE.

WHERE, OH, WHERE ARE THE COPPERCLYMERS?

HOW ARE YOU, "MY POLICY?"

There is no longer a cloud upon the political horizon. The returns of the October elections have dispelled every shadow of a doubt that yesterday overhung the results of these exciting contests. It was not then a question of fact, but of numbers, for the success of the Republican party in all the States which held their elections on Friday was a foregone conclusion. It has since been only a question of majorities. The vote in Pennsylvania is unusually heavy, both parties having brought out their full strength.—Our majority is not so great as we had hoped for, but it is sufficient and decisive. We have carried Philadelphia by 5,000 majority and the State by 20,000. The gallant Geary is elected and the choice of a Republican Senator of the United States secured in place of the apostate Cowan.—And what is equally gratifying in the way of rebuke to Andrew Johnson, is the gain of three Congressional districts, the 10th, 16th and 21st. In the 10th, which is now represented by a Democrat, Myers Strouse, General Harvey L. Cake, a staunch Republican is elected. In the 16th, a contested district which was claimed and for a time represented in the present Congress by Coffroth, General Koontz has been chosen by a majority which admits of no dispute, and Honest John Covode in the 21st district is elected by 300 majority. A private telegraphic dispatch from Meadville assures us that Mr. Finney's majority in this county will reach sixteen hundred, while in the district it will reach 2,000, which we believe is 600 more than received by Mr. Culver. As the Republicans have not lost any Congressmen the delegation will stand, Republicans 18, Democrats 6—as follows:

The Legislature is largely Republican, and will elect a successor to Edgar Cowan (Johnson) for six years from the 4th of March next.

Let it be borne in mind that the glorious victory was won in the face of the most desperate and corrupt measures on the part of the Federal government to give the State to the Democrats. Thousands of outside voters were colonized in Philadelphia as government employees, and the Republican majorities of the city proportionately reduced; but not withstanding all their influence, it seems not improbable that Geary's majority will equal if not exceed that of Lincoln in 1864.

From Ohio we have tidings of heavy Union gains in every county heard from, and there is no doubt that the Republicans have carried seventeen of the nineteen Congressional districts, and by generally increased majorities. Reports from forty-five counties, including Ashtabula, Hamilton, Cuyahoga, Franklin, Lucas, Crawford and Sandusky, give a Union majority of 35,739. The State is estimated at between 45,000 and 50,000.

Iowa, the star of the Northwest, has re-elected a full delegation of Republican Congressmen, and the majority in the State will approximate 30,000.

The returns from Indiana are meagre, but satisfactory. Not a single Republican Congressman is lost, and there is good reason to believe that we have gained one additional member. The present delegation stands eight Republicans to three Democrats.

Look now at the recapitulation. On the first Tuesday of September Vermont gave upward of 25,000 Republican majority. On the second Tuesday, Maine gave nearly 28,000. On the 4th day of October Connecticut held her town elections, and more than doubled her Republican majorities in all the counties which went for Hawley, while the majorities were reversed in some of the counties which before went Democratic. Now we have Iowa by 35,000, Indiana by 25,000, Ohio by nearly 50,000, and Pennsylvania by (probably) 20,000. Throwing out Connecticut, we therefore have an aggregate Republican majority this fall in seven Northern States—all that have yet voted—of nearly 200,000!

What a stunning verdict against Andrew Johnson and his soothing syrup "Policy" of reconstruction. What an emphatic endorsement of the loyal Congress that carried the Government triumphantly through the war! Rest assured it is a decision which will be sustained and strengthened by the votes of New York and other States which hold their elections in November.

MAJORITIES FOR GOVERNOR.—Since 1790 we have held twenty-six elections for Governor in Pennsylvania, and the majority for Governor in the twenty-six elections has been 19,779. The highest majority was for John A. Shulze in 1826—63,037, his opponent only receiving 1,174 votes. The smallest majority was for Wm. F. Johnston the renegrade politician, Andy Johnson's Bread and Butter Collector of Philadelphia, it was only 299 votes in 1848.

1851—William Bigler, Democrat	8,485
1854—James Pollock, Republican	37,007
1857—William F. Packer, Democrat	34,619
1860—A. G. Curtin, Republican	31,184
1863—A. G. Curtin, Republican	15,225
1866—(I. e. John W. Geary, (probably over)	20,000

MR. SCHOFIELD ELECTED.—The Dispatch of yesterday says:

Mr Schofield is without doubt elected to Congress from this district, although we have not full returns and it may be two or three days before we can obtain the official vote. His majority in this county, so far as official returns have come to hand, is 1,452. He also has a majority of 50 in Cameron county, and 1,125 in Warren county. Elk county goes 400 against him. We have no returns from Clearfield, Forrest or Jefferson, but presume they give small Democratic majorities, and Mr. Schofield will be entitled to the position by from five to seven hundred votes. Mr Scott did not run as strong in Erie as it was generally supposed he would. Had he carried the city with three hundred votes, as most of his friends supposed he would, Mr. Scott would have come near filling the winning horse.

HARDWARE, STOVES, &c.—The firm of Bain & Copeland, dealers in stoves, hardware, &c., on Franklin street, have opened the fall campaign with a determination to supply the demands of the public in their line with extraordinary success. They had previously contemplated closing out their stock, but having now decided to remain, will, in the course of another ten days, be in receipt of a complete stock of all goods appropriate to their line, which they have purchased for cash and propose to sell at greatly reduced prices. The tin shop in connection with the store will be re-opened next week and in full tide of successful operation.

This firm have obtained the exclusive sale of the justly celebrated Spear's anti-dust gas-consuming parlor stove, and the first consignment has already arrived. Persons desirous of purchasing heating stoves should give this sample an examination. It seems to be the ne plus ultra of stove patents, and if it answers the guarantee of the manufacturer, certainly has not been surpassed.

The firm particularly invite the attention of coopers, carpenters and builders to their new goods. It is their intention to keep on hand a complete stock of house furnishing goods, so that every family can be supplied with any article in the housekeeping line, usually found in that catalogue. See advertisement in another column.

FALL FASHIONS FOR THE HAIR.—It is announced that the ladies will, till winter, or till further orders, wear curls, without waterfalls, for full dress. The front hair is arranged in water curls, or in wavy puffs. The front hair is also worn in smooth puffs, but this is not becoming to all styles of features. There are several different modes of arranging the waterfall—to suit the fancy of the wearer. It may be composed of several small puffs, or two or three, or narrow bands crossing it, which gives it the appearance of puffs. But coils were ruled out some time since, and although occasionally we see one defying the fiat of fashion, yet they are decidedly out of style.

ALLEGHENY VALLEY R. R.—The Oil City Monitor says that the funds have been raised in Pittsburgh with which to finish the Allegheny Valley Railroad running from Pittsburgh to Oil City.—The road is now finished and in complete running order from Pittsburgh to the mouth of the Mahoning, two miles above Kittaning; and from that point to Brady's Bend Iron Works—about twenty miles further up the river—the work is so far advanced that the Company expect to have it completed this fall. From Brady's Bend to Oil City it will be at once let out in mile sections, and the work pushed forward with such energy that it is hoped to have cars running to Oil City in July, 1867.

OBITUARY.—We regret to announce the decease of Mr. Roswell Hart of Rochester, N. Y., father of our fellow-townsman, E. S. Hart, Esq., of the late firm of Burtis, Hart & Barroughs. The deceased was one of the pioneer settlers of Western New York, having emigrated to the Genesee country from Connecticut in 1820. For forty-five years he was a respected and influential member of the community in which he resided and prominently identified with various financial, charitable and educational enterprises. He will be generally and sincerely lamented.

TITUSVILLE can now boast one of the best bands in this part of the country, and their services have been constantly called in requisition during the political campaign which has just closed. Brown's band embraces ten pieces, and the performers meet for frequently rehearsing old and new airs.

We have been shown an elegant cornet from John F. Stratton's, New York, of which Mr. Brown is sole agent. It can be seen at Brown & Vick's music store.

Summer Dying.

On the scarlet mountains yonder,
Summer lies down to die;
She gathers her robes of splendor,
Around her royally—
Her tender, purpling mosses
Pillow her royal head;
Her myriad, gentle grasses
Are weeping about her bed.

It failed, the precious promise
Of her beauty's golden reign,
It came, the loss, the longing,
The silence, and the pain.
She was cruel in her splendor,
She mocked us in its reign;
She had her careless carnival

'Tis not the hand that crowns us,
The hand held out to bless;
'Tis the hand that robs and wrongs us,
That we often caress.
Still, O, begnil ng Summer,
We o'er thy beauty lean;
Thou did'st rob us, yet we love thee,
Discrowned, we hail thee queen.

All passionate fervor faded,
With eyes at last serene,
Turned thou towards thy conqueror, Autumn,
Thou art dying, O, our queen!
All that thou gavest to us,
In thy morning's gracious glow,
All that thou hast taken from us,
Only our God can know.

"Cree Quien" Letter from Pioneer.

PIONEER, Pa., Oct. 8, 1866.

Editors Morning Herald:

Men and things often go to the dogs, but it is seldom that we have an opportunity to see so many go in a crowd as did the other day at this place. Two parps, the one brown and the other white; the one from Petroleum Centre and the other from Shaffer, were matched to meet at Pioneer, and chaw at each other until the owner of one gave up whipped. The more sensible canines were to have no voice in the matter, probably from the fact that they had no stamps bet on the result. The Centre sent up a strong delegation of "blood and thunder," while Shaffer brought to the ring several strong doses of forked lightening, dressed in striped trousers and all to see fair play. The "dorgs fit and fit and fit" and then reclined in the sand and lolled, then "fit" and then lolled, and finally ended off with lolling. The men drew their bets, then each drew his dorg and retired in peace, thus giving Cree Quien the honor of placing on record the first case of dog fight unaccompanied with pugilistic demonstrations. The public will note this down to the credit of Pioneer, and consider that morality must be at a discount, as the effects of an overstocked market.

The stars look down, at times, on funny scenes, and so it happened when Peleg left the place where life everlasting is kept corked up in bottles, and started out to hunt his domestic hearth and bask in the sweet light of his dear Betsy's smile. Peleg was born a poet, raised a gentleman, but from sticking too closely to his dearest friend, because a clod-hopper. He is not overburdened with stamps for his friend receives them as fast as he, and still Peleg loves him dearly, and constantly seeks his society. This had been the case on the night in question, when Betsy's sweet face appeared to him in a vision and beckoned him to a comfortable seat by her side. But Peleg's mind was unsteady, likewise his feet. In imagination he wandered back to earlier years, and seemed to rejoice in the possession of his birth-right. This gave a tone to his musings, and we heard the opening notes of a beautiful sonnet to the dog star as he rounded the corner, and came in sight of sundry brilliant gas lights which serve to illuminate all out-doors in the immediate vicinity of Peleg's home. This was too much for the already weak optics of our embryo poet, and as he chanced just then to find a slight elevation in the soil concluded to be seated and brood over the matter. After due consideration he seemed to have reached a fixed conclusion, and declared a firm determination to arise and go unto Betsy. This Peleg proceeded to execute by placing his hands upon the ground, and carefully bringing his feet into close proximity, with the intention of raising to a perpendicular position by springing from his hands, but alas! his memory was short and he had forgotten which end belonged uppermost, or else he became in doubt as to which were his hands and which his feet. People in doubt are sure to go wrong, and so with Peleg.—He sprang from his feet, and lo! the result. His affinities at once became an oil factory, and Peleg became aware that the ground was impregnated with petroleum and he had become an oil smeller. This was not, however, the summit of his ambition, so gathering fresh courage, and learning wisdom from experience, he succeeded in reaching the desired elevation, and once more started on his winding way. Perseverance will accomplish wonders, and Peleg would no doubt have succeeded in reaching his Betsy at last, had not the misfortune of his birth intervened. The strange, fantastic flickerings of a gas-light caused the corner of a derrick to assume questionable shapes which Peleg mistook for his next door neighbor, and thus addressed it. "What tidings bring'st thou friend to cheer this heart? (hic) No answer. What, and who art thou? (hic) Be thou a g(hic)host or a goblin damned. (hic) Humph! (hic) Why will not some (hic) body translate my friend Sh(hic)akspeare into English?" Peleg's ideas had taken a turn, as his sense of grammatical propriety became shocked, and for a time he muttered inaudibly, evidently laying down a strong argument in the favor of adjective before the noun, for all at once he broke forth, "Yes, my friends, the matter is beyond a doubt (his diaphragm, startled at his earnestness failed to twitch and he went on uninterruptedly), that when Shakspeare wrote "goblin damned" he should have transposed the words and written da—." Here occurred Peleg's chief disaster. He had become lost in the contemplation of a brilliant idea, and when he finally made the discovery of his whereabouts, he found himself floating on the greasy bottom of the creek. Sorrowing at his fall we extended a helping hand and fished him out. The generous hearted fellow would have rewarded us, but he was returning from a visit to his friend and all his stamps had taken unto themselves wings.—And there we left him, although poor, yet rich, for who is poor that hath a bosom friend?

Business is brisk. It is the business of this people to "strike ile," and everybody seems to make it their business to not fail in this business, for if this business fails, what business will the business people fall back on? The well belonging to Mr. Harrington which we mentioned in our last as being tested, has turned out a generous testator, and pumps about 125 barrels per day. We rejoice that the owner is worthy of his good fortune. Long may he live to enjoy the just reward of his energy and perseverance, and may the same good qualities ever meet with a like return.

Three new wells have been struck within as many days, but as yet it is difficult to decide as to their real value. Of these, next time.

Mr. Loomis' refinery is doing a good business. He turns out 272 barrels of refined oil per week, most of which is of an excellent quality. The whole is shipped direct to New York.

Mr. Millar, dealer in coal, informs us that he has the greatest difficulty in supplying the demand of his rapidly increasing business, owing to the lack of transportation on the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad. He awards great praise to the Oil Creek Railroad for their promptness in delivering freight.

Pittsburgh and Cleveland oil buyers have been toasting the market on New Yorkers in order to get their winter supply while quotations are low. The result is, empty tanks abound, and the New York men would hardly be able to meet a sudden demand without emigrating.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FINANCIAL.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

NEW YORK, October 11.

The Post's money article says: The loan market is without noteworthy change. Call loans are 4@5 per cent and discounts 5@7 per cent. More paper is offering.

The stock market is steady but dull. Government's are firm and railroad shares are active, Michigan Central being the strongest on the list.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

TITUSVILLE, October 11.

The Petroleum markets are steady at yesterday's quotations. The sales made to-day were of small quantities generally, and bought by parties who are compelled to be in the market more or less every day. This, however, has been the situation of affairs for some time past. So far as prices are concerned, they are irregular, generally being regulated according to the gravity and the pressure under which the producer is laboring in holding his oil.

The Creek has been augmented to some extent, but not sufficient to open the channel for shipment to Pittsburgh. Should the rain continue there will no doubt be an influx of Pittsburgh buyers in the market which will be highly conciliating to the producer.

Advices from the East report the market very dull and weak, and as a general thing prices ruled a fraction lower. There appears to be little outlet for the immense amount in store.

We are cognizant of sales to-day as follows: 300 barrels on Church Run at $4.25, 200 on Benschoff at $4 00, 1,000 same place at $3.75, 200 on Pioneer at $3.50, 200 on Bull Run at 8c per gallon, 500 on Stevenson Farm at $3.75.

The following are our quotations to-day:

PITTSBURGH OIL MARKET.

[Special to the Morning Herald.]

PITTSBURGH, October 11.

In going our rounds among the oil men this morning we could detect no change in the feeling manifested yesterday. Holders continue firm at variance with buyers in their views, but as the present rise will in all probability bring down another considerable supply of oil from the wells, we may reasonably expect to report some sales effected by concessions.

The demand for crude was not as active as reported yesterday morning, buyers being disposed to await the developments of the rise in the river. We could hear of but two transactions: 500 barrels and 125 barrels at 14c. The market may be quoted fairly at previous figures, 14 and 10c barrels returned and included.

We could hear of no demand for bonded oil, and not a single transaction. It may be quoted to-day at 33@35c free on board cars here, and 42@42½c Philadelphia delivery. Free oil is dull and nominal at 50@52c for standard brands.

Despatches from above report copious rain with the river rising rapidly.

The arrivals amount to about 19,000 barrels, and the shipments east per A. V. R. R. were about 1,450 barrels of refined, and 200 of crude.

Titusville Morning Herald.

A Grand Squirrel Meeting Match—Over Four Thousand Killed in One Day.

From the Buffalo Express.

AKRON, October 3.

We have had an old-fashioned squirrel hunt in Akron, which in its results will, it is believed, challenge comparison with any similar exploit on record, and you will much oblige many of your readers by giving it a place in your widely circulated columns.

Twenty squirrels were to count three, and red, white and grey, five, ten and fifteen respectively; rabbits and coons, thirty each; foxes and minks, fifty; muskrats, twenty, and in fact every animal from the chipmunk up to the bear, the panther and the cougar, were rated at their proper value by Messrs. E. Cummins, C. B. Rich and S. O. Corey, the duly appointed Judges. We may here observe that no specimen of the three last mentioned denizens of the forest appeared among the spoils. The feathered race were not so fortunate from contributing their unwilling quota to the general fund, and woodcock, pigeon, partridge, snipe, quail, ducks, crane and heathen generally were spared by many of the party.

On marshalling their commands, Captain Patrick's men fell in to the number of twenty three, while Captain Wickwire's were three less in number. All started in high spirits on the fifth morning, and after dispersing themselves over the country in pursuit of their object, met at the appointed rendezvous in the evening, to report their prowess. Every hunter being sworn to the fact that the spoils he produced were shot during the day, the game was counted, when Captain Patrick's side obtained credit for two thousand, one hundred and sixty-six, and the rival body two thousand and sixty four, leaving a balance of one hundred and two in favor of the first named gentleman. The game principally consisted of squirrels, with some rabbits and coons, and when piled might be measured by the bushel. Many of the hunters counted from two hundred to two hundred and fifty, and one veteran soldier of the late war ran up a score of three hundred. Captain Patrick's men were, of course, declared the winners, and both sides partook of a capital repast prepared by Captain Wic were, with an appetite and zest, of which hungry hunters alone can boast. The utmost hilarity and good feeling prevailed, and the farmers are loud in their praises of the benefactors who have delivered them from the vermin who were playing such havoc with their crops.

All Sorts.

—Queen Victoria has five daughters. The eldest is the wife of the Crown Prince of Prussia. The second, Alice, is the wife of the Prince of Hesse-Darmstadt, whose principality has been lately absorbed by Prussia. The third, Helena, became recently the wife of the Prince of Teck, who is a Prince without a principality.—Two remain unmarried—Louise, who is in her eighteenth year, and Beatrice, who is in her tenth year. What is to be done with Louise, now that most of the Protestant German Princes have been ousted from their petty thrones by Prussia? There is only one Protestant Prince now available for royal conjugal purposes, and he is the brother of the Princess of Wales, King George of Greece. Mr. Gladstone is, consequently, to proceed to Athens to enter upon this delicate negotiation. The question is, whether the throne of Greece offers any stability. But whatever doubt exists on this subject, they are somewhat counterbalanced by the desire of opposing to the growing influence of Russia in the East, the guarantee of an Anglo-Greek alliance with an English Princess on the Greek throne. Louise will therefore, probably become Queen of Greece.—Her purposed husband is a mere youth, who dances well, and is fond of good cigars, and is tolerably good looking. He might make an admirable clerk in a millinery store, but is altogether out of his place as the chief of the spirited Greek nation.

—General Mott, of New Jersey, has declined the offer of a colonelcy in the regular army.

—William D. Bond, Esq. has been engaged by Charles Reade to prosecute the Round Table.

—Lord Brougham is eighty-eight, but he has accepted an invitation to make a public address this month.

—The Savannah News denies the story that Hon. A. H. Stephens intends to go about the country reading lectures.

—The Chicago jury on McKeever returned that he came to his death at the hands of some person unknown to them, but that there was a plot to murder him, and that he was murdered in the prosecution of that plot.

—Captain J. K. Goldsborough, commanding the United States steamer Shenandoah, reports to the Navy Department his arrival at the Island of Mahi, one of the Le Cheile group, from Mauritius, which port he left on the 9th of August. The officers and crew of the Shenandoah are reported well.

—Dickens has another novel on the stocks.

—Lucy Rushton is playing Rosalind in "As You Like It."

—Bishop Colenso writes to the London Times defending his hymn-book for not containing the name of Christ.

TRANSPORTATION.

EMPIRE LINE.

THE EMPIRE TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Now offers to the business community a RELIABLE FAST FREIGHT LINE between the EAST and THE WEST, and the GREAT OIL REGION OF PENNSYLVANIA.

It owns and controls all the cars of its line, which are new, and built expressly for its trade, and furnished with BROAD TREAD WHEELS which enable it to run through irrespective of change of gauge, thus avoiding the ridiculous delays prevalent at transhipping points.

The Line is managed by men of long experience in the business, and no effort will be spared to render satisfaction to its patrons.

Parties ordering goods from the East will please direct Shippers to Mark Packages, "EMPIRE LINE," and refer them to the Agents of the Company for shipping directions, &c.

☞ Particular attention given to forwarding Oil to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

For rates of freight, shipping directions, &c., apply to our Agents in the different Eastern and West'n cities.
